Every day brought surprises for summer school students and Hawthorne Road passers-by as they watched the new Whitworth Music Building take shape. Blessed with a winter compatible to builders, the structure is ahead of schedule and will be completed for its dedication on December 11.

1976-77 Annual Report

Whitworth Gift Record Set

Buoyed by a 23% surge in unrestricted giving, Whitworth College balanced the 1976-77 operating budget. And, thanks largely to the music building construction gift, the college enjoyed its biggest gift income year in history.

These successes more than offset the impact of unplanned increased expenditures and salvaged, at least in part, the strains of a college-wide salary freeze imposed by trustees for the entire year.

According to before-audit figures, Whitworth ended the fiscal period on June 30 with a surplus of $6,591. Total current fund income for the year was $6,226,688 and expenditures reached $6,220,097.

"Even though $6,600 doesn't seem like much on a $6.2 million budget, we really feel this was a victory," said President Edward B. Lindaman.

"We came in 3% over our projections on total current fund income—including tuition, gifts, board and room, endowment. A year ago when it looked like gift income might be peaking, we had to absorb a $299,000 deficit and there wasn't an extra dollar anywhere for cost of living or step increases.

"But the frugal budget and some tremendous faith in Whitworth College have carried us forward. This upturn has enabled us to budget a 10% pay increase plus a two-step increment for faculty and 10% for everyone else in 1977-78. We are now projecting continuing increases in giving to the college," Lindaman explained.

The biggest factor in the welcome surplus was the jump in unrestricted gifts, up $124,767 over the previous year to $656,675.

Officials point to three categories of donors to explain the 23% climb.

Gifts from individuals, bequests, and churches each generated about one fourth of the total, and each category registered healthy gains.

Individuals gave $173,055 or 41% more than a year ago. Bequests from estates left by friends of the college contributed $187,563, up 80% over last year. And giving earmarked to Whitworth by individual church sessions reached $149,963, or 6% more than in fiscal 1975-76.

A $1.6 Million Gift Year

The remaining one fourth of unrestricted gift income—totaling $146,094—was comprised of alumni, foundations, businesses and corporate giving through Independent Colleges of Washington.

In addition to the $656,675 of unrestricted gifts, Whitworth received $966,817 in restricted and capital gifts, pushing combined giving to $1,623,634—the best year ever. The previous single year record was $1,013,081 in 1973-74 when the fieldhouse was improved.

Well over half of the capital giving this year was for construction costs incurred for the new music building. The structure will be completed this fall; the remainder of the $1.5 million anonymously pledged to the college in May of 1976 for the facility will be paid by the donor in the new fiscal year.

Viewing both restricted and unrestricted giving together, the largest single donor category was individuals; giving from these friends of the college reached $750,861, primarily reflecting the music building gift in running nearly $600,000 ahead of a year ago.

Estates contributed $189,818, up 68% over the previous year.

Church giving jumped 20%, reaching $183,519. In all, 130 churches in the Alaska-Northwest Synod of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and 64 others across the nation contributed to the college.

Overall giving declined in three categories. Foundation gifts declined 69% to $176,754 as some previous grants expired. Businesses sent $81,257 to the college in the year, a decline of 15%. And alumni giving dipped by 7% to $50,224. The number of donors increased slightly, while the average gift shrunk somewhat.

One of the brightest spots in the income picture is the dramatic surge in community financial support for Whitworth. The annual community fund drive total has been inching upward for several years. But last year with a never before reached goal of $90,000 and with volunteer callers headed by Whitworth community relations director Brad Hunter, Spokane area donors were responsible for $102,000.

1976-77 Income Distribution

1976-77 Expense Distribution

Current fund gifts — those which impact the operating budget — comprised just over 10% of Whitworth's $6.2 million budget. The three other major sources of income yielded nearly $5.7 million.

Tuition Income Climbs

Tuition and fees revenue totaled $3.8 million, up $567,125 from last year as a result of a $400 tuition increase, a small full-time student enrollment hike, and an increase in summer school enrollment.

Auxiliary income, primarily board and room, reached $1.5 million, up $180,613 over the previous year. Endowment netted $181,129, about the same as the earlier period.

The year's major expenses were $1.7 million for instructional departments and $1.4 million for auxiliary services such as food, dormitory operations and the bookstore.

To counteract the financial impact of higher costs on returning students with financial aid needs, and to make up for reduced federal funding, the college exceeded the budgeted level of scholarships and grants to students by $53,000. Altogether, Whitworth dispensed $828,407 in Whitworth-raised money to students—53% of the student body. The total was $171,732 more than the college took in through all of its unrestricted gifts.

While seeking long-term answers to the financial aid dilemma, President Lindaman points to the solid base of the college:

"The strength of Whitworth remains the quality of what happens here for students. We measure our progress in the changed lives, in students going directly to professions and graduate schools in the financial support from those who've felt the impact of our work in the community and abroad. On these bases, we expect this new year to build on the successes of the past one."

Community Fund Drive Seeks $110,000 this Fall

Keyed to the theme of "Step Up For Whitworth," the 1977 Whitworth Community Fund Drive will open September 20 with a goal of $110,000. Last year's Spokane drive garnered slightly more than $102,000, setting a new record for community gifts and topping the goal by $12,000.

Chairman of this year's campaign will be Kurt E. Orton, of Richards, Merrill, and Peterson, Inc., investment securities. Orton has worked on previous campaigns as a canvasser.

Brad Hunter, Director of Community Relations, said that over 80 workers have volunteered their services to work in Whitworth's annual community campaign.

Members of the Executive Committee are: G. Robert Inkpen, who chaired the past two campaigns, Mrs. Eric Johnston, Albert Arend, Clint Corliss, Elizabeth Gruber, John Johnson, Cece Miller, Stanley Newton, Marvin Solhren, and Lorin A. Winn.

The fund raising drive will conclude on October 7. A victory celebration is scheduled November 19.

Second Institute of Ministry Led by Outstanding Faculty

Five Christian scholars joined with Whitworth's president, associate chaplains, and an associate professor of sociology in teaching at the college's second Institute of Ministry in July. Nearly 300 pastors, spouses, and children from across the nation attended the weeklong institute.

From New York came David H. C. Read, minister of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City; from Harvard came Arthur C. McGill, professor of theology and Sharon Lea Parks, doctoral student in Applied Theology and former associate chaplain at Whitworth; from San Francisco Theological Seminary and Graduate Theological Union at Berkeley, California came Roy W. Fairchild, professor of education and social psychology; from California came Gary W. Demarest, pastor of La Canada Presbyterian Church, and Frederic W. Bush, assistant professor of Old Testament at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena.

Participating from Whitworth were Edward B. Lindaman, president and active in the lay leadership of the Presbyterian Church; Ronald C. White, chaplain and assistant professor of religion; Ronald G. Frase, associate professor of sociology; and Lorraine Robertson, associate chaplain.

Focus of the seminar was theological reflection, personal renewal, and family enrichment with workshops on homiletics, faith development, the future of the church, Old Testament, communicating with adolescents about faith, pastoral leadership, and religion, economics, and the quality of life.

Youth activities included a program of education and recreation.

Each day concluded with evening worship led by David H. C. Read and Gary W. Demarest.

Homecoming Weekend to Feature Concert Band and Guest Artist

Plans are being formulated for Homecoming 1977, October 20 and 21. A Homecoming Concert is planned with guest artist Keith L. LaMatte, a former member of Stan Kenton's great band. Titled "Recent Recollections — A Great Americana Musical Review," the show will be held in the Fieldhouse.

Alums will see a Pre-Game Show at Cicero's with new head football coach Daryl Squires discussing tactics for meeting Linfield College the following day. Preceding the game will be a barbeque at 11 a.m. in front of the HUB. A Homecoming Dance and an Alumni dinner also are planned.

New Phone System Installed; College Gets 100 Direct Lines

Pneumatic drills, concrete dust, and six foot rolls of cable heralded the installation of a new telephone system at Whitworth in July. Called Dimension 400, the new system will provide 24 hour telephone service in and out of the campus beginning August 1.

While the main college number (466-1000) will remain the same, 100 touch tone phones across campus will have newly assigned numbers. The old PBX is being replaced by a central reception area with a receptionist acting more in that capacity than as a switchboard operator. Her desk console is approximately the size of a small typewriter.

Herbert A. Stocker, director of Personnel and Administrative Support, estimates traffic through the switchboard will be reduced by 60 per cent with the new system, the largest in Spokane. Additional services of the new system include forwarding calls and automatic transfer of calls to other numbers within the system. Dormitories will also have Dimension 400 but not with direct dial long distance capability.

The capacity of the console is 360 dial touch tone lines with 96 trunks all of which may be added easily and economically in the years to come.

As of August 1 telephone numbers will be:

President's Office 466-3300
Vice President for Academic Affairs 466-3302
Development Office 466-3348
Admissions 466-3330
Registrar's Office 466-3313
Business Office 466-3320
Personnel 466-3301

Booklet on Wills Available

An invaluable aid to those who have not yet prepared a will is available free from the Whitworth Development Office.

"Four Reasons Why You Need A Will," published by Kennedy Sinclair, summarizes the importance of having a valid, up-to-date will. For your no-obligation copy, write Dr. Hugh Johnston, Whitworth College, Spokane, WA 99251.

Taft Institute Held Here

An advisor to four Presidents and an archivist of the Nixon papers were two of the guest speakers at the Robert A. Taft Institute of Government held at the college during June. Whitworth was one of 36 colleges and universities in the nation to sponsor the Institute.

Director of the Institute was Dr. Homer Cunningham, professor of history. Taft fellowships were awarded to elementary and secondary school teachers, principals, and administrators. Purpose of the two week session was to deepen knowledge of the American two-party political system in order to improve teaching of government and politics. The political scene was studied from the national, state, county, and local view as speakers from those areas appeared before the group: city council members, county commissioners, chairmen of the state Republican and Democratic parties, and representatives of government on the national level.

One such was Dr. Leon Blair, a former diplomatic service officer and now affiliated with the Texas Bureau for Economic Understanding. Blair wears many hats — he has been an advisor to every President since Eisenhower, a high ranking officer in the Navy, a teacher, a diplomat to Morocco at the Royal Family's request, a journalist, a technical advisor to the television series "Victory at Sea," and a horseman. But, Blair considers himself primarily a writer.

The Nixon Archivist, John R. Nesbitt, is now Chief of the Management and Technical Staff of the National Personnel Records Center in St. Louis, Mo. Nesbitt also was the Supervisory Archivist for the Harry S. Truman Library.

Foundation Grant of $25,000 Supports Deferred Giving Job

With 10 other private liberal arts colleges in the nation, Whitworth College recently received a grant of $25,000 from the Northwest Area Foundation of St Paul, Minnesota.

The monies will be given over a two year period to help defray costs of deferred gift giving officers and to improve the financial stability of private education. Under the grant, the salary of a Whitworth deferred gifts official will be partially subsidized for two years while the person is trained to solicit contributions of real estate, stocks, bonds, insurance that accrue to the college after the donor's death.

Vice President for Development Joseph P. H. Black said, "This grant will immeasurably assist the Whitworth Foundation in meeting the tremendous financial needs of the next decade through all forms of deferred giving."

The Northwest Area Foundation is a 42-year old philanthropic organization which makes grants to support projects that promote the public welfare in the arts and humanities, medical and social sciences, environmental and human services, and education.

Whitworth Founder's Desk Given to College by Grandson

A 6 by 15-inch piece of Whitworth history was presented to the college in July by the great grandson of the college's founder, George F. Whitworth.

Receiving the gift was Dr. Duncan S. Ferguson, vice president for academic affairs. The donor was Kenneth A. Shults of Tumwater, Washington, a retired carpenter and cabinet maker.

The gift was an old-fashioned lap secretary desk which was used by the college's founder and his father, St. Matthew Whitworth, who brought it across the Atlantic from Great Britain.

The compact desk is made of rosewood and is complete with the original pen wiper made of lamb leather, sand for drying the ink from the quill pen, and the original Whitworth signet. For those who love the mysterious, the lap secretary even has a secret drawer.

The chest was designed to sit on the writer's lap and opens up to provide a small writing space. The back, in an upright position, has slots for filing papers. Underneath the felt writing top is a compartment to store additional papers. Receptacles were carved as separate containers for the pen wiper, signet, ink, and sand.

Shults, in commenting about the secretary, noted the recessed writing surface and the mitered and lapped corners. He said he believed the meticulous workmanship was completed in 1843. Shults received the secretary from his mother over 20 years ago.

Originally it was brought from Great Britain by George Whitworth's father who settled in Kentucky. George received it from his father and used it constantly when he crossed the plains of the United States to settle in Sumner, Washington, where he founded the Sumner Academy, the forerunner of Whitworth College, in 1884.

Shults said he had dreamed of giving the desk to the college for years.

Ferguson, in receiving it, said, "It is appropriate to give this to the college. We are very grateful to make this addition to our historical collection."

Mary Simonson, Secretary to President Lindaman, examines lap secretary recently given to Whitworth.

Psychology Professor Tabbed Faculty Development Head

Dr. Ronald R. Short, professor of psychology, has been named to act as coordinator of faculty development. A grant from the Lilly Endowment, Inc. of $81,704 will support the three year program.

Short is the director of the college's masters program in Applied Behavioral Science in collaboration with LIOS (Leadership Institute of Spokane). He is a 1960 Whitworth graduate and received both his masters and doctorate degrees from Claremont Graduate School.

Among the courses he has taught are social psychology, theories of personality and educational simulations. Short is a member of both the Western and American Psychological Associations and is a certified psychologist in the state of Washington.

New Learning Aids Center Established in Library

The college Task Force on Competency in Education has generated a pilot program on learning aids which will be housed in the Library this fall. Students experiencing difficulty in reading, writing or mathematics or who wish to elevate their skills will be able to drop by the Learning Aids Center or will be referred there by faculty.

The Center will be staffed by students trained and supervised by faculty members. Assessment tools will be available so that students will be able to judge for themselves if they are in need, and where they are on the continuum of competency in these basic skills.

Tapes and self learning tools will be available for student use. A tutorial staff, skilled particularly in writing and mathematics, will critique papers and draw up individualized study plans.

"A growing number of students are asking for this assessment," said Assistant Academic Dean Don DeuPree. "The Learning Aids Center is our response to their concern." The Center supplements rather than replaces tutorial services offered by Student Development under a program headed by Lelia Brown.

The Task Force on Competency will oversee the Learning Center to assess what it can do to further implement the competency based standards in the stated goal of the college. The group has also contacted faculty on its interests and needs in terms of competency. DeuPree emphasized that the task force is not in favor of moving the whole college in the direction of competence measurement since the goals and objectives of different classes do not lend themselves to a narrow competency standard.

The Learning Center will be open at least 15 hours a week and will be located in the former computer area of the Library.

Manley Leads Young Life Basketball All-Star Tour

Whitworth basketball coach Dave Manley will add international coaching to his resume after a 20-day tour of Australia with a Young Life Basketball team. The 12-member squad boasts top high school basketball players from across the U.S.

Manley said, "We'll play in at least four high schools in the Melbourne area plus games in local basketball centers sponsored by various community clubs."

Two games are also scheduled in Albert Hall with its large center court for basketball, reminiscent of Wimbledon in England. The team will practice together for two weeks in Hawaii prior to the Australia tour.

The Young Life organization is a high school Christian fellowship which is represented widely in the United States and overseas nations.

Summer Basketball Camps Held

Basketball was the name of the game for two weeks in late June and early July when students from third grade to high school came to Whitworth's Summer Basketball Camps.

The Pirate Basketball Camp for Girls boasted a faculty of 11, headed by Athletic Director Jack Ecklund, Women's Basketball Coach Jean Anderson, Men's Basketball Coach Dave Manley. Twenty-six girls arrived on campus, moved into Warren Hall and began an arduous week of 12 hours of basketball a day.

Four days later a Summer Basketball Camp for Boys opened with Ecklund and Manley again teaching basics: shooting, footwork, dribbling. This camp was a day camp and class sessions were geared for and assigned by age.

Merkel Takes Baseball Helm

Walter B. "Spike" Grosvenor, after his baseball team won the Northwest Conference crown and compiled his best season in five tries, stepped off the coaching rubber in late May. In explaining his desire to return to full-time teaching in the art department, he said the demands of coaching and recruiting a contender took too much time away from teaching and his family.

Dr. Duncan S. Ferguson, vice president for academic affairs, said, "Spike has been a super coach. He brought a tremendous knowledge of the game to our program, and this combined with his remarkable ability to help young men grow as persons."

Ferguson quickly filled the vacancy when he named Paul Merkel as baseball coach, picking up the job he held from 1956 to 1971. His 1960 team won the NAIA national championship. As assistant professor of physical education, he also has been sports information director and assistant football coach.

New Faculty Appointments Announced for 1977-78 Year

Two new appointments in the mathematics department are among the faculty appointments recently announced by Dr. Duncan S. Ferguson, vice president for academic affairs.

Deane E. Arganbright, an assistant professor of mathematics at Iowa State University, has been named to a permanent appointment, replacing Edward Arnold. Dr. Arganbright was at Iowa State for ten years. Besides teaching he directed master's work and served on the doctoral committee. He has also taught at the University of Papua, New Guinea, and at the University of Washington, where he received his masters and doctorate degrees. He was a graduate with a B.S. at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

To replace Dr. Howard Gage, who is on a year's sabbatical, Jame T. Leuschen will teach classes in mathematics. In the Home Economics Department Angela Flory will take over Adele Gallaher's post while she finishes her graduate work. Flory has taught 17 years in Oregon public schools and at Linfield College. She is a graduate of Oregon State University.

While Kenneth Leonard, director of the Center for Economic Education, takes a leave of absence to work on his doctorate at the University of Washington, Kent Varty, a social science teacher at Ferris High School, will take over as assistant director of the Center. Varty was an active and enthusiastic participant in last year's teachers business education experience.

Lillian Whitehouse, who retired as Associate Director of Student Development this summer, will continue on at the college as Director of Lifelong Education, with headquarters at McKay Hall.

In Student Development Kaye Via Mickelson, former coordinator of student activities, will assume the responsibilities of Director of the Residence Life Program, replacing Shirlene Short, who resigned in May. Mickelson has received both her bachelor's and master's degrees at Whitworth. She has worked with students as the activity coordinator for four years.

New to Whitworth will be Kathryn M. Palms, who will take over the post of Director of Career Planning and Placement. Her credentials include working with the Center for Career Planning Activities at Mills College, developing a career exploration program under a federal grant, developing course material on the subject for Idaho State University. She is a graduate of Western Michigan University and received her masters in Student Personnel Services in Higher Education at Idaho State.

A New Resident Counselor will be Roger Boyles. He is a graduate of Westmont College and received his masters in student development at the University of Indiana.
